TBAS IMPROVEMENT JOURNEY

We have been doing lots of exploration currently at TBAS about our purpose piece – “Why we do what we do” and I have shared aspects of the following statement in various documents and iterations. However, I wanted to be really explicit so all of you as members of our wider school community have a clear and concise understanding on where we are currently in our improvement journey.

Vision of TBAS: Students are well prepared for a changing world in which they view learning as a means of creating better life opportunities.

Purpose of TBAS: To work with our school community to equip students with the knowledge, skills and capabilities they need to prosper and thrive in their community and future world.

Guiding principles and success measures: Our aim is to have students authentically engaged in learning by knowing what they are learning and why. We want students to know how to be successful in their learning, the scaffolds they will need to access this and to reflect upon the learning they have done. Students will be reflecting on the spiral of inquiry questions to give us feedback on how successful we are being with this.

We come to these statements based upon our narrative of our journey of lifting achievement at Tumby Bay Area School. Our data story demonstrates the key improvement strategies that have been put into place and are having an impact on our students. We therefore begin the next iteration of our journey of adding equity to excellence. Ensuring we facilitate and deliver quality curriculum is the way we will do this for all of our students. We are utilising the movement of LISC (Learning Intentions and Success Criteria) as we know that teacher clarity, through learning intentions and success criteria, have the impact we are desiring for all of our students. We are curious about how well we do this at TBAS and are aiming to embed this strategy into our teaching and learning cycles. This is our current Leadership inquiry focus with our staff and students.

EXTERNAL REVIEW

We have a new date for our next review which will occur during Week 8 of Term 3. We will work towards this process and keep Governing Council and parents informed about our lines of inquiry, the process and our progress as it gets a bit closer.

SENIOR SECONDARY STUDENT VOICE

Wall mural on Junior Primary building.

Cadence from Year 12 is painting a beautiful mural on the JP wall as a Student Voice initiative. Each student has drawn a flower that will be represented on the Artwork. The meaning behind the mural represents how we are all unique and have different personalities. It is exciting to see the mural progress each day.

STAFF VERSUS STUDENT NETBALL COMPETITION

Over the last three weeks students from Year 10-12 have battled against the teachers in a netball competition. Thanks to the Senior Secondary Student Voice for organising this event, allowing teachers and students to enjoy their lunch time together and have some fun. It also provided some great entertainment for other members of our school community.

PROJECT™

TBAS is continuing to work closely with the Resilience Project in 2023 to further support the wellbeing of our community. As a part of our partnership, we have access to a Parent and Career Hub. Information about this Parent and Career hub was sent out on Seesaw last week for everyone's information. Please keep an eye out on Seesaw for the next instalment of information. This will include information about gratitude.

Gratitude is paying attention to the things that we have right now, and not worrying about what we don't have. We practice this by noticing the positives that exist around us. Hugh will share a personal story that highlights the importance of paying attention to what we've got. He suggests writing a gratitude letter to someone and shares the positive effects this will have on your mental wellbeing.

GEM FESTIVAL

GRATITUDE EMPATHY MINDFULNESS

Our school's biennial GEM Festival will be taking place again this year. The date set for this event will be Friday 17th November from 5- 8 pm. A group of teachers are on the committee and are working towards the event being bigger and better than the 2021 festival. Over the last 3 weeks students had the opportunity to be a part of a competition to create a logo. Cooper Hibbins has been named the winner of the logo design and is now in the process of working with Ms Gates and Miss Carmody to finalise his creation that will be made into a digital format. Congratulations Cooper on your great achievement.

If there are any parents or community members who would like to be on the working committee for the upcoming GEM Festival, please let Amanda Partington know. We would appreciate all offers of help.

Governing Council Canteen and Lunch Pass Surveys

Thank you to those who responded to the surveys that came out over the last few weeks.

The canteen survey will be sent back to Procurement Services for the Department for Education. They facilitate the tender process to hopefully get independent management for a canteen on site. If you or someone you know think that this a small business opportunity you would be interested in, and have the necessary skills, please contact the school. It would be great to have this available again.

The lunch pass survey gathered information investigating the current model of Senior students being able to leave school grounds during lunch breaks with parental permission. From the data collected it was agreed at the latest School Governing Council that no change was needed to this arrangement at this time. Students are expected to conduct themselves in a manner that reflects their growth and maturity in the wider community.

Middle School ART

Year 7 Art

This Term in Art Year 7 students have been learning about cubism. They have created artworks inspired by famous painting, Weeping Woman. Rather than a front on or side perspective, Picasso showed several views of the womans face in the one painting. Students have also created animal artworks using cubist techniques.

This semester in Art Year 9 students have created book sculptures based on their favorite childhood book. With the aim of being inclusive of student interests, some students chose a movie in place of a book. This year we researched and experimented with all the different ways cardboard could be changed. Students used a variety of techniques to create some really creative designs. Completed designs are currently being displayed in the library.

PROGRAMMING AUTUMN

Educators have been talking about deciduous trees and supplying a variety of leaf textures, shapes & colours, this has developed interest. Research into a maple leaf led us to the Canadian Flag, tasting and discussing the benefits of maple syrup.

REFLECTION : We value our program as it opens the doors to learning about the children, the way they think and how they share their knowledge.

WONDERING -HYPOTHESISING : how you get maple syrup from a maple tree. Child's voice -"I'd chop the tree down then you can use the wood as well, I know they wack a plug into the tree, it drains in a bucket and the liquid is clear". So a Maple tree gives syrup and if we cut it down we can no longer get the syrup, We investigated the maple leaf and found it is on the Canadian flag. A parent arrives who lived in Canada and she told the children that there was a plantation of maple trees out the back of her house.
